Advanced Search

The advanced search function on this page will allow you to do keyword searches along with other, more refined searches limited by modifiers (for example, "contains" and "does not contain"). During an advanced search Kinolab queries every field in our database associated with films and clips. That includes everything from informational metadata (the information that appears when you click "show more" in an individual film page, such as cast, cinematographer, filming locations, period, etc.) to content metadata (the tags added to each clip during the curatorial process). In an advanced search, Kinolab is also querying film titles and descriptions (which derive from IMDb) and clip titles and descriptions (supplied by Kinolab's curatorial staff).
